OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF AKRON.

TO TELEPHONE THE DEMOCRAT CALL

No. 180.

TUESDAY, NOV. 6, 1900.

"Hooray!"

The silent voter's secret will soon be out.

This is the day of all others for Americans.

There'll be another hot time in the old town tonight.

There is yet plenty of time to vote if you haven't done so.

Our hat's off to the silent voter. He holds the balance of power and is using it today.

The one-half of one per cent. of the voters of Akron who neglected to register are feeling rather cheap today.

It is estimated that there are upward of 10,000 voters in Summit county this year. Four years ago there were only 10,000.

The campaign committees seem to have been lost in the shuffle. Akron's voters are taking themselves to the polls today, without assistance or suggestion from the respective committees.

Campaign committees are all right in a close year, but in this year of grace they seem to have lost their occupation. There has never been a time in Akron's history when so near the total vote of the city was registered and polled with so little assistance from the political committees.

One sided election bets have not always been accurate indications of the sentiment of the people. It will be remembered that in the memorable campaign of 1884 the prevailing odds were 3 to 1 in favor of Mr. Blaine, and against Grover Cleveland. These odds prevailed until the very night of the election.

If every taxpayer had as much backbone as Attorney W. T. Sawyer, star chamber sessions would be less in vogue at the office of the Board of City Commissioners. Mr. Sawyer flatly declined to leave the office of the Commissioners at the invitation of Commissioner McMillen yesterday, when the Board wanted to go into star chamber session, and based his action upon the broad principle that no City Commissioner ought to have anything to do or say in private that any taxpayer is not qualified to hear or have a voice in. Commissioner McMillen's efforts to evict Mr. Sawyer by force proved unavailing. Star Chamber sessions have never been popular with Akron people, and a little more publicity in connection with the deliberations of the Board might for the future be to the interests of the taxpayers.

THEIR LAST WORDS.

The Democrat wants the people to read the final words of the campaign spoken last night by Mr. Bryan to his fellow townsmen at Lincoln, Neb. He said:

"We are at the close of the campaign. Tomorrow will decide what policies are to be pursued for the next four years, who is to stand at the head of our federal government, as well as what is to be the complexion of congress, the Senate and of the State, and, in this, my last occasion to address the people of my home, I want to say no matter what may be the result of tomorrow's election I shall have no blame to cast on the people of this community and of this State. I never appear before a Lincoln audience without feeling anew the gratitude which I owe to the good people of this community. No matter what they may do in the future they cannot undo what they have done in the past, and whether I am elected or not I think my experience will be of some service to my country for I have shown that a young man, without a single corporation behind him, can amount to something. But do not think that when I say this I say it in a boasting way, for whatever has come to me has not come because of personal merit; it has simply come because I have stood for certain ideas and the people have been so fond of the ideas that they have taken me in order to get the ideas.

"We have fought the campaign open and above board. We have appealed to the conscience and to the judgment of the American people. Our platform is so plain that everyone can understand it. You know where the party stands. It has not dodged any issues. It stands on the old questions as it has stood before and it has added to its platform new planks to cover new issues."

"Now my friends, let me thank you again. I thank the soldiers, the home guards, the continentals, the traveling men, you citizens, all. My work is done, almost done, for this campaign. I have tried as well as I could to defend the principles of the party to which I belong. Whether I am defeated or elected, I have done all I can to bring success to these principles. Whether I am to leave you within a few months to be absent four years or whether I am to be among you, I cannot in words express my gratitude for all you have done for me."

President McKinley's last words to his fellow townsmen were:

"My fellow citizens, I am very glad to greet you once more at my old home. This is not a year when I am making speeches. Tomorrow from one end of this vast country to the other, the American people will speak, and we must wait reverently and in patience for their verdict. I know you will be glad to hear a word from our fellow townsman, Judge William R. Day, who has held a conspicuous place in the Administration over which you called me to preside in 1896. I thank you and bid you goodnight."

COMPLIMENT FOR AKRON PEOPLE.

(Youngstown Vindicator.)

Akron, is straining every nerve to surpass Youngstown in the next decennial census, and if the same progress is made in that direction that has marked the decade just past, the Summit city will accomplish its purpose.

Youngstown now has less than three thousand advantage in population over its rival, and unless citizens of our home city put forth every effort to retain that small ascendancy, Akron will carry off the honors in another census taking period.

In one particular Akron shows her better discretion and gives to Youngstown an object lesson. Her people are freer from partisanship when the interests of the city are involved. To advantage themselves as a manufacturing town, they manage to keep in congress, if not all the time at least a great part of the time, a Representative from their own city.

They have had their Sidney Edgerton and now have their Dick, while in this Republican district and city, surrender after surrender is made to advance party and personal interests and preserve political harmony to less deserving localities, to the detriment of the city's growth.

If Youngstown is surpassed by Akron at the next census taking, Republicans of this city will have themselves largely to censure for being placed in the rear. If patriotism is to continue the absorbing duty with Republicans, they must expect to suffer from their illiberality.

DOUBT

Story Told by Clark.

Many Believe He Was Struck by Train.It's Admitted That He Was Intoxicated.Coroner Begins Examination of Witnesses.After Taking Testimony He Adjourned
Inquest to Wed. esday.

Coroner E. O. Leberman went to Hudson Monday afternoon to conduct an inquest over the remains of Aaron Clark who died Monday morning from the effect of a murderous assault made upon him Thursday night.

The coroner held a postmortem examination. He was assisted by Dr. Haynes of Hudson. The surgeons found that Clark's left arm had been broken. A finger upon the right hand was broken also, and the skull had been fractured by a blow received from a blunt instrument.

After examining the body, the Coroner summoned a number of witnesses and began his official inquest. Those who gave testimony were Jacob Gier, Daniel Myers, George Gannon, John Ball and Max Lees. Dr. Leberman stated Tuesday that nothing of importance was brought out at the inquest. He will continue the examination Wednesday.

Coroner Leberman is not disposed to place a great deal of credence in any statement Clark may have made before his death as the dying man was undoubtedly in a semi-unconscious condition.

There is a growing belief that Clark was not assaulted but that he was struck by a train while crossing the tracks and thrown to one side. From the nature of his injuries it would appear that there is good ground for this theory. Witnesses agree that he was intoxicated and the officials are inclined to the belief that he did not know just what had caused his wounds.

After exposure or when you feel a cold coming on, take Foley's Honey and Tar. It never fails to cure, and will prevent pneumonia or consumption if taken in time.

Culture Club.

The third meeting of the Self Culture Club was held at the home of Miss Marguerite Kirk, 106 Maple st., first evening.

Responses to the roll were made by quotations from Shakespeare. Miss Lillian Hart the delegate to the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs at Marietta, gave a very interesting and comprehensive report of the convention after which followed the regular program of the evening.

"Battle of Hastings and Results of the Norman Conquest," Miss Elizabeth Crawford.

"Formation of the English Language," Miss Ida Roberts.

"Magna Charta and the Formation of the House of Commons," Miss Clara Bingham.

Humorous reading, Miss Susie Weber.

Current Events by the Club.

An amusing feature of the evening's program was the mock election, resulting in favor of McKinley. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Miss Nellie Hardy, 108 Aqueduct st., Nov. 19.

the county jail Monday charged with assaulting Clark, has been released. The officials believed that the evidence would not warrant them in holding him and he was released without bond. There is considerable mystery about the case. If Clark was assaulted on the railroad track, people cannot understand how he managed to get home in the condition he was in. The officials believe that another man had something to do with the assault upon Clark.

THEME

For Thanksgiving Sermons Adopted
by Evangelical Alliance.

The Ministers' meeting was held in the First M. E. church Monday morning, 12 members being present. It was agreed that the theme of the Thanksgiving sermons in the city should be "The Progress of the Kingdom," and that a Union Foreign Missionary meeting should be held in the First Congregational church the evening of Thanksgiving day, with several brief addresses on the "Progress of the Kingdom in the Closing Century." The projected meeting for Christian missions in China was cancelled. On motion of the Rev. Mr. Pratt, the invitation was cordially accepted to attend the fellowship meetings in the Central Presbyterian church, the week of Nov. 11-18.

HEAVY

Vote at Barberton.

But the Result Is Very Uncertain.They've Some Silent
Voters There Too.Barberton a Power In County
Elections.Farewell Reception to Rev. Jones—
Barberton News.

(Special Correspondence.)
Barberton, Nov. 6.—Nothing is on the minds of the people except election. The usually busy streets have a strange air of quiet, and although groups of people stand about discussing the situation, everyone seems in suspense. An unusually heavy vote has been polled here early in the morning. Barberton has one of the largest precincts in the county, and will cut a large figure in county results.

Lynn St. John, who has been attending O. S. U., is home to vote. He left for Columbus this afternoon.

Members of the M. E. church tendered a farewell reception to Rev. Jones, their retiring pastor, last night. A large crowd was there. Mr. Jones was presented with several valuable gifts. He goes from here to a charge in Roscoe, O.

Mayor McNamara is so well pleased with the results obtained by working tramps on the city streets, that the experiment will be repeated in the near future.

Robert Reimuschuesel, the popular barber of Second st., has gone to Millersburg for a two weeks' vacation.

Mayor McNamara was confronted Monday morning by but one prisoner, John Flinn. John was accused of having imbibed copiously of campaign enthusiasm. He was assessed $1 and costs.

J. C. Baughman, former proprietor of the Magic City laundry, sold out to Lessiter & Son, who took possession of their new acquisition this morning. Mr. Baughman will establish himself in the meat trade in Barberton in the near future.

Mrs. John R. Davis continues to improve, and is now out of danger, providing she suffers no relapse.

The following Akron people registered at the Inn Sunday: C. E. Sheldon and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Miller, Miss Lawson, Dr. and Mrs. Sibley, Frank Good, Will Raymond and W. L. Burkhardt.

Manager John H. Thrall of the Inn, has so far recovered from his illness as to be up and around.

The Barberton boys are considerably dissatisfied over Saturday's foot ball game. McBirney and "Cy" Young of the North Ends were played by the East Akrons, they claim, thus giving the Akron boys the advantage in weight. Howard, of the Barbertons, was badly used up in the game. He and one of the East Akron players came into violent collision early in the first half, cutting Howard's eye open and necessitating several stitches. Howard left the game long enough to get sewed up, then came back and in the second half made the only score of the day for Barberton.

Geo. A. Points, Upper Sandusky, O., writes: "I have been using Foley's Honey and Tar for hoarseness and find it the best remedy I ever tried. It stopped the cough immediately and relieved all soreness."
